ABOUT THIS ISSUE

Election years are always about promises. The inevitable question is “Will promises made be promises kept?” Experience tells us that some will be; many others will not. This issue of Israel My Glory is about promises made and kept—always, and in every respect. These promises emanate from a promise-keeping God. Our cover depiction by Art Director Thomas E. Williams projects the fullness of the prophetic promises given in God’s Word. Grace promises in the rainbow, cast against a darkening sky, anticipate the hour believers will depart in the Rapture, while the hour-glass reminds us that time is running out before the Tribulation of Daniel’s 70th week breaks upon an unbelieving world. Beyond it all is the ultimate reality: a new heaven and a new earth. (Cover: Thomas E. Williams)

IN THIS ISSUE

God Bless America
by *Elwood McQuaid*8
Eckhart Tolle, Jeremiah Wright, Jimmy Carter. Believe it or not, they all have something in common. And if you love the Lord, love your country, and love Israel, you won’t be too happy about it.

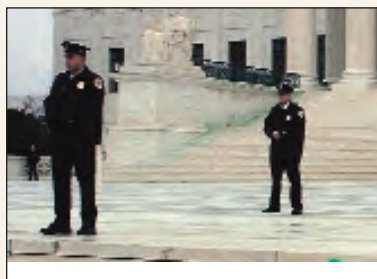

God’s Precious Promises
by *David L. Larsen*12
God has always kept His promises. And the prima facie evidence of His faithfulness is the experience of His ancient covenant people, Israel.

Modern Israel in Biblical Prophecy
by *David M. Levy*16
Although many people, including some Christians, deny that Israel’s return to the land is biblical, they are wrong. It is extremely biblical. And here’s why.

Eight Survive!
by *Charles E. McCracken*20
The great deluge of Noah’s day did not come without a warning from God. Today researchers studying catastrophic plate tectonics present a flood model that is nothing less than horrific.

In the Shadow of a Praying Nation
by *Craig L. Parshall*24
This summer marks the 45th anniversary of the ruling that outlawed reading the Bible and reciting the Lord’s Prayer in America’s public schools. But there’s more. Read on.
