ABOUT THIS ISSUE

Want to hear some good news? A great day is coming when the clouds of the Great Tribulation will roll away and an era never seen before will dawn. It's called the Millennium, and it will be the 1,000-year threshold of eternity. Would you like to know about Jesus' Second Coming and what it will be like to enter the Millennial Kingdom and live during a time of peace, harmony, and perfect justice? Or do you ever wonder about the sheep and goats in Matthew 25? Who are they, and by what standard will they be judged for fitness to enter the Millennium?

Answers to these questions and much more are all here for your enlightenment. Share this issue with your friends as a part of the good news that the King is indeed coming and will usher in an unparalleled time of plenty when He arrives.

Our cover is the Valley of Jezreel where the nations will gather for the battle of Armageddon prior to the Millennium (Miguel Nicolaevsky/iStockphoto).

IN THIS ISSUE

Saying Is Believing

by Elwood McQuaid10
Rhetoric is everything. Or at least it appears so nowadays. But what happens when rhetoric doesn't match reality? See for yourself.

'I Will Come Again'

by Douglas Bookman14
Jesus' promise to come again was familiar talk to His disciples. That's because it was connected to a special, joyous occasion expertly described in this article.

Rejoicing in Beulah Land

by Thomas C. Simcox.....18
Today Israel is besieged on all sides. It seems like the little Jewish state has nothing but enemies. But someday the tide will turn. God has a plan, and here it is.

Entering the Millennium

by Charles E. McCracken24
First the Messiah will level the forces against Him in the Valley of Megiddo. Then He will usher in a new era. If you're interested in how things will unfold, you'll love this article.

Living in a Perfect World

by Marshall Wicks28
Long life. No disease. Tame animals. These are merely a few characteristics of the Millennium. There are many more, some of which may even surprise you.
