ABOUT THIS ISSUE

Spring comes as a blessed reminder of a fresh start—a new beginning. Have you thought about what our world would be like if there were no spring? Living in a perpetual state of February is a chilling prospect. Our good friend, the late Dr. Adrian Rogers, frames this thought in a spiritual dimension by asking, “What if there had been no Easter?” Believers know the answer to that one. We would be, of all people, most miserable. But Christ has risen, and the feature articles you will read regarding His resurrection will refresh and encourage you at a time when encouragement is a matter of supreme importance. And don’t miss Craig Parshall’s indispensable exposé of the news media giants’ agenda to close the door on truth. Gracing our cover is photographer John Theodor’s beautiful picture of the Garden Tomb in Jerusalem (PhotoZion).

IN THIS ISSUE

Tuning In on the Last Days
by Elwood McQuaid8
Many people today want to know if we’re living in the last days. There’s an easy way to tell. You just need to know what you’re looking for.

What If There Had Been No Easter?
by Adrian Rogers12
As Christians, we rejoice because Christ arose. But what if He had not? The world would be a different place indeed. And it’s not a pretty picture.

Victory in Jesus
by William L. Krewson16
For a king to rule forever, He has to live forever. Faith in Messiah’s resurrection and future reign did not originate with Christianity.

Facing the Goliath of the Liberal Media (Part 1)
by Craig L. Parshall18
Unhappy with the news media’s 2008 election coverage? Well, get ready to become unhappier after you read this!

The Passover Lamb
by Steve Herzig26
Matzoh, matzoh, matzoh. There’s plenty of matzoh on Passover tables around the world. But something else is conspicuously absent.
